

MONDAY EVENING, JAN. 13, 1908.

The friends and backers of other presidential candidates are inclined to jeer at the claims put forth by some of the Taft boomers in behalf of their man. They say the alleged statement by the President that Mr. Taft already has enough States practically pledged for him to assure his nomination was put out expressly for the purpose of trying to organize a stampede to Taft among the broad-and-butter brigade for effect in Ohio and other States where things are at a critical point for the Taft boom. A list of States claimed for Taft printed recently in papers friendly to the Secretary of War excites the ridicule of the backers of other booms. Some of the latter claim to have positive information that President Roosevelt himself does not believe Mr. Taft is out of the woods and that he does not think enough States have been clinched for him to give him a clear majority of delegates in the national convention. It is asserted with positiveness by the anti-Taft men referred to that the President does not count among the States likely to be for Taft several that were included in the list published recently in the Taft papers.

The bill now before the legislature for an increased appropriation to maintain the State militia is receiving considerable support and it is believed will pass. There was a time in the State's history when military companies uniformed and equipped themselves and asked but little from the State, but times have changed and conditions with them. It can hardly be expected of men now to give more than their time to militia duties, so the expense of maintaining armories and other expenses attending military organizations must be borne by the public. Then, too, military companies in every community are regarded as a reserve police force and under new laws they are liable to be ordered to distant parts of the State. This, in many instances, seriously interferes with the affairs of the individual members of military organizations and for this and many other reasons the men should be encouraged and a larger appropriation in their behalf should be made. Virginia's appropriation for her militia is small, indeed.

New York banks have got back into a condition of normal reserves. For the first time since the pinch became severe in October, the statement of Saturday, as stated in the Gazette of that day, showed a surplus in the reserve. The deficit has been well over forty millions, but has been rapidly diminishing for the past month; and now there is a surplus of six millions. By this time much of the money disbursed in the west and south in crop-moving must be back in the New York banks.

It is to be hoped that the present Thaw trial will be conducted with less regard to a certain public appetite for sensationalism than the last. A trial is conducted primarily to obtain justice, not to afford a field for the posturing of counsel. The previous hearing of this case awakened unfavorable comment throughout the whole world upon the operation of the criminal trial system. It is incumbent upon judge and counsel alike to see to it that no such impression is created this time.

THE AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT may soon be confronted with the problem of determining what is sausage. While most persons will agree with the circuit judge in Michigan that cereals and water are not sausage, no layman has ever felt competent to say what sausage is. The question, what is whisky? looks like a kindergarten brain buster in comparison.

It is now said in Washington that changed conditions on the isthmus may increase the cost of the Panama canal to $200,000,000, and there are many who believe that the cost will reach a half billion.

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

Washington, D. C., January 12. The U. S. Supreme Court today declined to vacate the order of the United States Circuit Court in New York appointing receivers for the Metropolitan Street Railway Company, and the New York City Railway Company.

The United States will turn Cuba back to the Cubans in March or April of next year, if the recommendations made by Secretary of War Taft to the President today, shall be adopted, contained in a letter transmitting to the President the official report of Provisional Governor Charles E. Macgon on present and past conditions in the island. The report shows conditions now to be "very encouraging."

The Supreme Court today refused to review the judgment of the federal court of California, which issued an injunction against a strike on the coastwise steamers. The sailors union wanted the injunction set aside.

If rich American girls marry titled foreigners, then this government should tax all dowries, gifts, settlement or advances of property made to the titled foreigner. This suggestion was made today by Representative Sabath (dem. Ill.), in a bill offered in the House. Senator Martin has recovered from a slight attack of grip and was in his seat in the Senate today. Mrs. Martin is at Seneca Lake, New York.

Fears of a flood in Washington are entertained at Harper's Ferry, where the Potomac is swollen to all proportions.

It is already apparent that the Aldrich financial bill will be amended in some particulars before it is put upon its passage in the Senate. Democrats especially as well as a number of republicans Senators, object to the proposed acceptance of first mortgage railroad bonds as security for the emergency circulation. They say that bonds of this character fluctuate in value too much to make them desirable as the basis of any part of the money of the country. The rate of tax proposed on the currency—half of one per cent. per month—is also liable to change, a number of senators believing that it is not high enough to force the retirement of the currency as speedily as it should, after the emergency has passed. A graduated tax, increasing in proportion to the time that the currency remains in circulation, is favored by many, among whom it is said is Speaker Cannon. The finance committee will begin consideration of the bill tomorrow.

Rev. C. D. Bulls, of Alexandria, has been invited by the Chaplain of the House to open that body with prayer one day this week.

Mr. Carlin has arranged for a hearing before the District of Columbia committee in reference to the erection of a railroad station north of the Long bridge, in this city, for the convenience of people from the south entering Washington. Mr. Carlin will also appear before the military affairs committee this week in reference to the building of a road from the Aqueduct bridge to the Arlington reservation. The road will cost $100,000 and has been recommended by the Secretary of War.

Mr. Carlin has been appointed on the sub-committee by the chairman of the committee on coinage, weights and measures to consider the bill requiring the restoration of the motto "In God We Trust" upon the money coined at the mints.

Mr. Carlin has received a letter from Secretary McCall stating that his request to detail sailors and marines to parade in Alexandria on the Twenty-second of February will be complied with.

Sixtieth Congress.

Washington, Jan. 13.

SENATE.

The deep anxiety of the Pacific coast for war defenses again manifested itself in the Senate today when a resolution introduced by Senator Ankeny was adopted. It called upon the Secretary of the Navy to report the cost of three additional submarines for the Pacific coast, two for Puget Sound and the other for Gray's Harbor, Washington. The secretary was also asked to report on the necessity for such purchases.

Secretary Cortelyou's administration of the Treasury Department came in for some heavy knocks from leading democrats. Mr. Culberson started the criticism when he inquired whether the Secretary of the Treasury had replied to a Senate resolution of early December calling for information relative to bond issues and public deposits.

Mr. Aldrich said assurance had been given that the response would be sent to the Senate Wednesday.

HOUSE.

The House passed a bill giving to homesteaders, who for any reason have forfeited their homestead except through fraud or valuable considerations, the right to apply for a second homestead just the same as if they had never applied for a homestead.

The House then took up the bill codifying the criminal laws.

A VENERABLE CONTEMPORARY

Will the Alexandria Gazette accept our very cordial congratulations upon the youthful vigor and vivacity which it preserves at an age that carries us back more than a hundred years, it having commenced its existence on the first day of the first month of the first year of the last century, namely on January 1st, 1800. It was if we mistake not, the second paper ever published in Virginia, the Williamsburg Gazette being the first. When its first issue was put forth the term of our second President had more than a year to run. But three new States had been added to the original thirteen that formed the Union; Napoleon had but recently returned from the failure of his Egyptian campaign, and the disappointment of his ambitious dream of founding an oriental empire, and had one month before by the coup d'etat of the 18th Brumaire seized the supreme power as First Consul. It was more than four months before he won the great victory of Marengo over the Austrians, by which he recovered the supremacy of France in Italy which had been lost during his absence in Egypt and Asia Minor. What changes have come over the face of human history, what great events have been written upon his pages, since our venerable Alexandria contemporary put forth its first issue. The Gazette says that a hundred years have elapsed since the originators of the paper paid the debt of nature, and that those now engaged in its daily preparation are the fifth generation who have wielded the pen and the scissors, and handled the type and presses. We trust that another hundred years of usefulness are still in store for this hoary but hale, this aged but still youthful contemporary.—[Charlottesville Progress.]

An effort will be made by northern democrats in Congress to place one of their number at the head of the democratic congressional campaign committees. The feeling is entertained by them that if the party is ever to capture the House, the campaign must be made under the direction of one familiar with conditions in northern and western States.

Arthur Martin, a commission broker, shot and perhaps fatally wounded his wife, Kathleen, who had obtained a decree of separation from him, and then committed suicide in his room at the Hotel St. George, Brooklyn Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Martin sued her husband for separation and the custody of the child. She came to Brooklyn early last week for the trial of her suit. Mrs. Martin died today at the Brooklyn Hospital.

New York Stock Market.

New York, Jan. 13.—After a strong tone in the first few minutes when some important advances were made heavy selling orders were put in the market and during the balance of the first hour prices of nearly every thing traded in declined enough in some cases to lose the early gains.

The World Almanac.

The World Almanac and Encyclopedia for 1908, the 25th Anniversary Number of that well-known reference book, has just been issued. This year it is much larger, more complete and comprehensive than ever before, comprising 1,000 pages and giving about 15,000 facts and figures which may be depended upon as being absolutely accurate and right up to the last minute of 1907. It is a veritable library of universal knowledge between two covers. The World Almanac is in the public schools of Greater New York, has been adopted by most of the Normal Schools and hundreds of Public, High and Grammar Schools throughout the country. It is certainly a book that should be in every library and in every home.

Immediately after the shot was fired she was rushed to Calverton and placed aboard a passenger train and was taken to a hospital in Washington. DISORDER IN BERLIN.

After attending meetings yesterday at which inflammatory speeches were made some 30,000 socialists descended upon Berlin as a protest against the rejection by the Prussian Diet of universal suffrage.

They sang labor songs and the "Marseillaise," and shouted abuse upon Chancellor von Bismarck. Processions marched through various streets, and there was much excitement.

The entire police force, armed with revolvers, were massed at regular intervals. They attempted to disperse the paraders, with the result that serious conflicts ensued.

One fight took place in front of the Colonial Exhibition Building. The socialists used sticks and clubs as weapons, while the police used their swords. Several on both sides were wounded.

Riots occurred later in Unter den Linden, where shots were fired. In two instances the mounted police made regular charges in Friedrichstrasse, injuring a number of the rioters.

The casualties number about a hundred. Three policemen and twenty-eight civilians were severely injured. Twenty arrests were made.

Badly Mixed Up.

Abraham Brown, of Winterton, N. Y., had a very remarkable experience; he says: "Doctors got badly mixed up over me; one said heart disease, another said kidney trouble; the fourth, blood poison, and the fifth stomach and liver trouble; but none of them helped me; so my wife advised trying Electric Bitters, and we are restoring me to perfect health. One bottle did me more good than all the five doctors prescribed." Guaranteed for blood poison, weakness and all stomach, liver and kidney complaints, by all druggists, fifty cents.

Fire in the union depot annex at Kansas City today did considerable damage. Much mail and express matter was damaged.

It is very important and in fact it is also lately necessary to health that we give relief to the stomach promptly at the first signs of troubles. Take something once in a while, especially after meals; something like Kool-Aid For Dyspepsia and Indigestion. It will enable your stomach to do its work properly. Sold by W. F. Creighton.

Today's Telegraphic News.

Mr. Caton Floor Leader.

[Special Dispatch to the Alexandria Gazette.] Richmond, Va., Jan. 13.—Speaker Byrd today announced the standing committee of the House. Delegate Caton gets probably the most important assignment of all. Mr. Caton is the democratic floor leader of the House.

Yesterday's Disorders in Berlin

Berlin, Jan. 13.—Just how serious was the rioting of socialists in Berlin yesterday did not develop until today when it became known that, fearing a hostile attack would be made on him, the police virtually compelled Emperor William to call off a motor car trip he had planned for yesterday afternoon. This subversion of the usual autocratic Kaiser to mob rule is regarded as the most remarkable event in William's reign.

With mobs surging through the principal streets and fighting constantly against the police guards who blocked their attempts to reach the imperial palace and Chancellor Bismarck's residence, the municipal authorities decided it would be positively unsafe for the Emperor to venture into the public thoroughfares.

His majesty had planned a ride to Grunewald forest on the western outskirts, where he delights to walk, and at first overruled the police objections to his trip. It was only when they urged that his appearance might stir the mob to a point where it would be impossible to control them that he yielded.

The police record, made today, shows that 124 persons were hurt, many of them seriously, during the rioting. Fully aroused by the violence of yesterday's disorders in which they found it necessary to fight with sabres and clubs against 40,000 determined socialists and nearly as many more sympathizers, the police today served notices that further attempts at demonstrations will be met with severest repressive measures. At the same time orders have been issued to the police to be prepared to fire on crowds of demonstrators if they refuse to disperse. The authorities are determined to restore quiet and order at any cost.

This afternoon he is to present them to President Penna at the executive palace and tonight a banquet will be given in honor of the visiting officers. This is to be the most elaborate function ever held in Rio and close to four thousand guests will participate. Each day until January 22 when the fleet is scheduled to leave, there will be elaborate entertainments.
